

North American (First Nations) Women Are the Largest Indigenous Group in Federal Prisons (2012–2018)

The graph presents First Nations women as one group, but Indigenous women are a single population with one single voice. Instead, they are members of distinct nations with different histories, cultures, knowledge, and social experiences.

(Data from Correctional Services Canada (2020))